

From: Mitchell Cameron
Sent: Saturday, 28 April 2018 10:22 AM
To: Strategy Support (DPFEM) <strategy.support@dpfem.tas.gov.au>
Subject: outlaw motorcycle club legislation

To label all members of a group as instant criminals, without need for a trial to be found guilty, is corrupt and unjust.

Members of organisations such as our Police force and government are committing crimes and being stood down. But does that then mean these organizations are inherently criminal?

Painting an entire group of peoples with one brush, because of the actions of a few, is discrimination and morally corrupt.

These motorcycle clubs are made up of family with a deep-rooted love for the culture of motorcycles and brotherhood.

To say they are all criminal because of the friendships they carry or the clothing on their back, is an abhorrent miscarriage of justice and a betrayal of freedom.